

Rhetor Editors' Report 2022

Coming aboard as co-editors in the wake of Tracy Whalen's inspirational service in the role is a daunting experience; we hope to maintain the high standard of excellence and commitment set by Tracy, and also by David Beard in his preparation of the special issue which appeared in 2021.

To advance the process of bringing out the next issue of our biannual journal, the Call for Papers for Rhetor 9 is now posted on the society's website. We encourage all members to consider submitting their scholarship for consideration, and to urge rhetorically minded colleagues from outside RhetCanada to do so as well. With a full Editorial Board in place by the end of our AGM, we hope to be able to bring out the next issue in a timely manner in 2023.

We look forward to working with contributors and with the Editorial Board to deliver a volume in keeping

Respectfully submitted,

Dr. Julie Dainville

Dr. John Moffatt

Co-Editors, Rhetor